Jeffrey Louden

SVP, Engineering at The Atlantic

Washington, D.C.
jeff@jefflouden.com
jefflouden.com

I build teams and things: engineering organizations that are diverse, inclusive, and kind, and that ship high-quality products quickly.

WORK

2025 – Now — The Atlantic
SVP, Engineering (2026 – Now) · VP, Engineering (2025 – 2026)

2022 – Now — Existential Software Company
Founder

Building Aureo, an app that tracks studio gear and plugins, maps the wiring, and values the studio.

2021 – 2022 — TIME
VP, Software Engineering

Responsible for TIME's core software engineering teams and strategy.

2020 — Lyft
Engineering Manager II, Memberships

Led a 10-person cross-platform team behind Lyft Pink, the subscription platform. Started a core platform team and led integrations with Bikes, Scooters and Rentals and partnerships with Grubhub+ and Chase.

2015 – 2020 — The New York Times
Director of Technology, NYT Cooking

Led NYT Cooking's 25-person cross-platform engineering team and its long-term technical strategy. Built the paywall infrastructure behind a $20 million subscription product, expanded to new platforms, and won two Webby Awards and the 2019 James Beard Award for Publication of the Year. Founding member of the Women in Tech task force, reimagined engineering hiring with recruiting, and helped foster a remote-first culture as its most senior engineering leader.

2014 – 2015 — Google
Senior Web Developer

2013 — The New Yorker
Director of Engineering

2011 – 2013 — Obama for America
Lead Software Engineer, BarackObama.com

EDUCATION

2005 – 2007 — Berklee College of Music
Certificate, Music Technology and Production

2001 – 2005 — Florida State University
B.S., Information Studies